Unpaid '24 property taxes now past due

Property taxes for 2024 were mailed in October and were due by January 31, 2025, without a late payment penalty. The Donley Appraisal District reminds taxpayers, the amount due increases each month after January until the tax is paid.

Accounts unpaid on July 1 will incur a 20 percent collection penalty in addition to the regular penalty and interest of 18%. Texas state law prescribes the penalty and interest amounts.

Delinquent notices will be mailed in May to those who still owe 2024 tax at that time. Partial payments will be accepted. Quarter Payment Plan on Homestead property:

If you have an over 65 or disabled exemption or are the surviving spouse of a disabled veteran, you may request to pay your property tax in four equal payments without penalty and interest. To apply, you must pay one-fourth of the total tax due before February 1.

Property owners who did not receive their property tax statements should contact the appraisal district. Failure to receive a tax bill does not affect the accrual of taxes, penalties, and interest on an account.

Taxes are payable by mail with a check or money order to the Donley Appraisal District, PO Box 1220, Clarendon TX 79226. In person payments can be made at 304 S. Kearney St, Clarendon, Texas. Taxes can also be paid online through DCAD's website, www.donleycad.org.

Packed house

Josh Weathers and his band perform to a sell-out crowd at the Mulkey Theatre last Friday evening. More than 240 people were in attendance to see Weathers sing traditional 90s country music along with songs he has written as well as pop songs. The event was sponsored by Shelton Title Co., the Clarendon Economic Development Corporation, and REFZ Sports Bar & Grill. The concert drew many people from out of town, and the Mulkey dance floor was packed much of the night as Weathers performed for more than two hours.

Five running for two city council seats

The City of Clarendon will have an election this spring, but no other local governments have attracted enough candidates to hold elections as the filing deadline approaches next week.

Five people are now running for two full terms on the Clarendon City Council with incumbents Ashlee Estlack and Eulaine McClintosh facing challengers Jeremy Jeffers, Brittney Wolfe, and Richard Dzanko. As of Tuesday afternoon, no one had signed up to run for mayor or for either of the two unexpired terms on the council.

In Hedley, all three incumbent city aldermen have filed for re-election - Larry Ely, Tonya Gibson, and Jennifer Floyd.

Howardwick also has a full slate of candidates. Mayor Pro-tem Johnny Floyd has signed up to run for the vacant mayor's position, while Alderman Jada Murray has filed to run again, and Matt Moore has also filed for the other available alderman's position.

The Donley County Hospital District Board of Directors has two of three incumbents up this year running so far. Rose Lemley - Place One and Cindy Shelton - Place Three are seeking re-election.

Incumbent Michael Metcalf has filed for one of two positions on the Hedley CISD Board, but no one has filed for the three positions on the Clarendon CISD Board.

All local boards are elected at-large, but hospital board candidates must file for a specific place on the board. Candidate applications are available from the administrative offices of each entity.

Filing continues through Friday, February 14. Elections are scheduled to be held May 3, 2025.

CC athletes show academic achievement

Clarendon College announced this week that the Bulldogs Athletics program had a tremendous academic semester after the Western Junior College Athletic Conference (WJAC) released Fall 2024 all-conference selections.

All-conference awards are designated at two levels, with the First Team recipients obtaining a 3.65-4.00 grade point average. This academic success is a testament to the college's commitment to academic excellence. Students with a Fall GPA of 3.25-3.64 are named to the Second Team All-Conference list.

The Bulldogs had 73 student-athletes named to the First Team WJAC All-Conference Team and 43 named to the Second Team. The 116 students represent students in the athletics program across seven sports.

Each of the seven programs at CC had at least five student-athletes who showcased impressive academic success this semester.

CC Athletic Director Mark James praised the college's student athletes.

"I am extremely proud of not only these 116 student athletes but also each coach for making academic success a priority this semester, as each and every program had an overall team GPA above 3.0," James said.

"I appreciate all the hard work each person puts forth toward ensuring our student-athlete's success. I look forward to a successful Spring 2025 semester."

The number of Clarendon College student athletes recognized in each program were Women's Rodeo - First Team, 4; Second Team, 2; Men's Rodeo - First Team, 6; Second Team, 10; Volleyball - First Team, 9; Second Team, 8; Men's Basketball - First Team, 6; Second Team, 4; Women's Basketball - First Team, 15; Second Team, 4; Baseball - First Team, 30; Second Team, 10; and Softball - First Team, 3; Second Team, 5.

Immigration officials pick up seven here

An alleged cry for help resulted in an immigration round-up in Clarendon Saturday.

Donley County Sheriff Butch Blackburn said his office received a call February 1 of a 19-year-old female who had come into the office of the Western Skies Motel, claiming she was being trafficked while traveling with a male and female person. She claimed their vehicle had broken down and while the other two were dealing with the vehicle, she had escaped.

Blackburn said further investigation revealed the woman was part of a group of seven, who were traveling in a vehicle that had indeed broken down. She and four others were illegal immigrants, and two people were involved in transporting the illegal immigrants.

"She just wanted out and away from them," Blackburn said.

Blackburn's office contacted the Texas Department of Public Safety Criminal Investigations Department and ICE, which responded quickly. ICE then took all seven individuals into custody.

The sheriff said one of the people involved in the transportation of the illegal immigrants had actually been deported on January 15 and was already back in the country.

"I want to express my appreciation for how quickly ICE and CID responded to help us," Blackburn said.

Citizenship has complicated history in US

I have spent more class time discussing the barrage of executive orders and pardons from both the outgoing and incoming presidents this week. As a federal judge has blocked President Trump's executive order to change birthright citizenship, that topic seems to be the best place to begin. I should mention that I struggle with the legality of most executive orders, but that argument will have to wait.

The discussion of birthright citizenship centers on the 14th Amendment to the Constitution. The clause under debate states, "All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the state wherein they reside." While it seems simple enough, it is complicated.

The clause "and subject to jurisdiction thereof" seems to trip up everyone. What does that mean? Well, it's open to interpretation. The problem and the brilliance of the Constitution is its vagueness. It must be. If the Constitution was packed full of specifics, it would have been scrapped years ago. True, a few things are specified: the president must be 35 years old to be elected, but it also says the president must be compensated, without giving a figure. It is up to Congress to determine that along the way.

When it comes to citizenship, the original Constitution is silent. Citizenship requirements, determined by the courts and Congress, have been changed many times throughout our nation's history.

The first citizenship law was passed in 1790 and said, "Be it enacted... That any Alien being a free white person, who shall have resided within the limits and under the jurisdiction of the United States for the term of two years, may be admitted to become a citizen thereof on application to any common law Court of record in any one of the States wherein he shall have resided for the term of one year at least, and making proof to the satisfaction of such Court that he is a person of good character, and taking the oath or affirmation prescribed by law to support the Constitution of the United States."

Some later examples are the Alien and Sedition Acts, passed in 1789 during John Adams' administration, which changed the length of time one must live in America to 14 years before applying for citizenship. In the 1857 Dred Scott case, courts basically said slaves were not citizens. A few years later in 1868, we get the 14th Amendment, which changed the earlier legal precedent on citizenship. In other words, citizenship laws have been fluid. Even with the acceptance of the 14th Amendment, later cases were required to understand exactly what the amendment meant. In 1898, in United States v. Wong Kim Ark, the courts said a child born to lawful immigrant parents was a citizen. Note "lawful." Whether we agree with what the president says about birthright citizenship, historically speaking, those laws are still subject to change.

Back to the difficult clause, "and subject to the jurisdiction thereof." Historically, this was always seen as addressing two main groups. The first were diplomats. If children of foreign diplomats were born in America, they were not granted citizenship because they were subjects of a different jurisdiction (country). The second group were Native Americans for the same reasons. In 1868, Indians were subjects of sovereign tribes, not the United States, and so their children were not given citizenship by being born in America. (Note that children of today's diplomats are still not granted citizenship, but Native American children are.) Citizenship laws have changed even since the 14th Amendment.

If the U.S. Supreme Court takes on this case – and I believe they will – much of their decision will be based on legal precedent, but they must also understand the intent of the law they are interpreting.

Intent is often difficult to ascertain, but it is worth noting the intent of the 14th Amendment. The 13th, 14th and 15th amendments are considered the Civil War or Reconstruction amendments because they all came at the end of or right after the Civil War. The intent of these amendments seems clear. The Republican-controlled Congress was trying to protect the newly freed slave population and fix the lack of official citizenship requirements in the Constitution. The 13th Amendment outlawed slavery, the 14th defined citizenship, and the 15th protected the freedmen's right to vote. Congress wanted to make sure freed men could not lose their rights because they were once slaves or because of their color. The mere fact that they were born in America meant they were citizens with all the rights that go with citizenship.

It is impossible to know if those members of Congress ever intended the amendment to apply to a baby of an illegal alien. An argument can be made that illegal aliens are not subject to the jurisdiction thereof, but instead of subjects and citizens of the nations from which they come and so their offspring are not covered under the 14th Amendment. It is also impossible to know if the amendments' authors intended its use to skirt immigration laws as there were none. They never could have foreseen thousands of people swarming across our nation's southern border when they created this new rule.

An important takeaway is that because our citizenship requirements and immigration laws have changed many times throughout our nation's history, these debates are not new. It also seems believable that Congress did not write the 14th Amendment with illegal immigration in mind. I am not calling for birthright citizenship to end, but it is worth examining.

History has shown our nation has a precedent for change. However, I believe the decision on birthright citizenship needs to happen in the Court, and Congress – not the President – needs to seriously reform our nation's immigration laws.

Millions shed tears after tragic accident

Tears of millions of Americans have scarcely dried since the tragic mid-air collision of a passenger airliner with a military helicopter on January 29 in the icy waters of the Potomac River in Washington, DC.

A total of 70 victims – 64 passengers, a crew of three and three in the helicopter – lost their lives a handful of seconds and a few hundred feet short of the Ronald Reagan National Airport runway, some 1,200 miles from Wichita, KS, where the flight originated some three hours earlier.

We've always heard that such tragedies "come in threes." Prayers abound for all who perished, as well as for all who lost loved ones. May this calamity be isolated, far more removed from the next one....

Upon hearing the news, millions of Americans' thoughts reverted to another river scene almost exactly 16 years ago. That's when an Airbus A320 airliner was skillfully "landed" on the Hudson River in New York City, some 200 miles from DC.

It was 5,858 days earlier – to be exact – when Captain Chesley (Sully) Sullenberger became a national hero. When the plane sustained a bird strike only minutes after take-off from NYC's LaGuardia Airport en route to Charlotte, NC, Sullenberger guided the aircraft toward the river. The waters were icy there, too, but the plane remained afloat long enough for all 150 passengers and a crew of five to be rescued. No one died, and just one passenger was injured.

Truly, it was a "Miracle on the Hudson," occurring in January 2009, just a couple of weeks before the nation's last major commercial airline crash near Buffalo, NY, where 50 persons perished....

Numerous ironies are associated with the current tragedy. There always are, with many known only by those whose losses are up close and personal.

One, about half of the passengers were figure skaters and their entourages. Largely ignored by major media were two interesting facts. About 24 hours before the crash, there was a close call between a commercial airliner and a military helicopter near the same DC airport, and about 24 hours later, one of the world's most recognized figure skaters died.

Dick Button, five-time world champion and twice an Olympic gold winner, dying at age 95 of natural causes....

The current crash involved a military Blackhawk helicopter colliding with a Bombardier CRJ700 regional jet.

Manufactured in Canada, it was considered one of the true "workhorses" of commercial aviation, never experiencing a mid-air emergency. The last CRJ700 plane was manufactured four years ago....

Back in 1959, there was another airline calamity involving Buffalo, but this time, not in New York state. It occurred near Buffalo, TX, where 28 passengers and a crew of six perished. Downed by mechanical failure in a thun-

the idle american by don newbury

derstorm, the Lockheed L-188 Electra had been in service only 11 days for 132 flight hours. It was a Braniff flight, one of the company's first of many setbacks preceding its bankruptcy in 1982....

Many of Braniff's challenges were unavoidable, but at least one advertising debacle was among the worst on record – for any company.

If memory serves – and sometimes it doesn't – the Buffalo crash occurred during Braniff's trumpeting of its "we're-going-to-be-on-time" campaign. If flights were an hour late, passengers were handed silver dollars upon deplaning, along with promises to do better. The Braniff folks even placed large clocks at cabin entries as reminders of their promise.

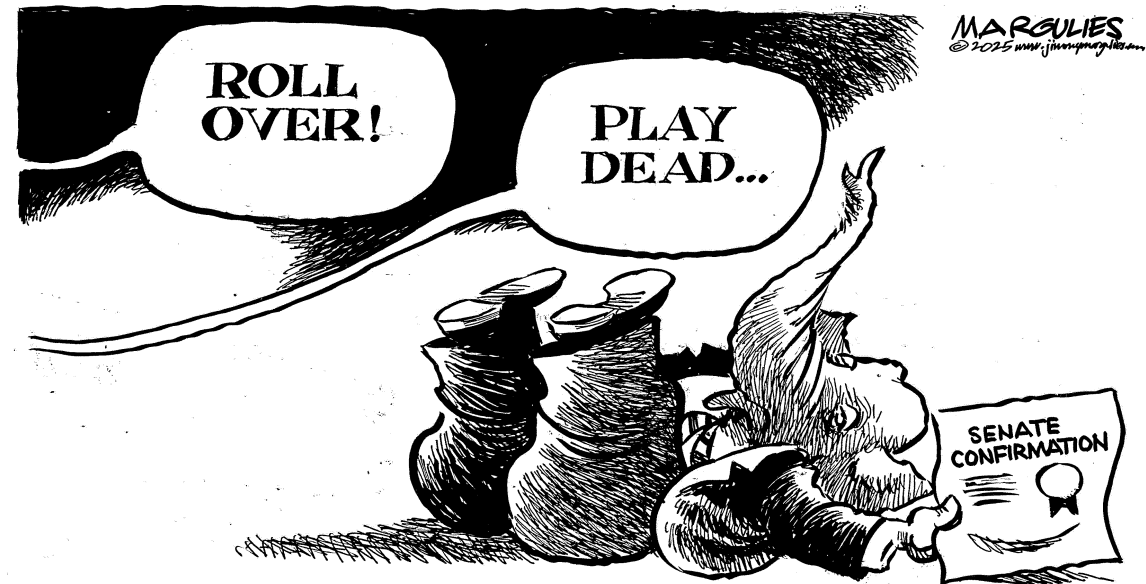

The Buffalo crash underscored the prevailing preference of arrival on time being more important than safe arrival. The campaign abruptly ended, of course, and the clocks came down....

Coming to mind is the 1992 funeral service of a pilot friend whose instruments failed in a Colorado mountain range, where Tim Williamson and five friends had planned to ski – not perish.

One sentence of the funeral tribute described what may have been my friend's last words.

"Hello, Denver Control. Hello, Jesus."...

Secretary of Defense Hegseth's first commands

Never give up in the face of adversity

By Bryan Golden

Persistence is the foundation of success. Although there are many ways to describe success, there is only one definition of failure – giving up. Whatever your meaning of success, you will only achieve it through persistence.

"Nothing in the world can take the place of persistence. Talent will not; nothing is more common than unsuccessful men with talent. Genius will not; unrewarded genius is almost a proverb. Education will not; the world is full of educated derelicts. Persistence and determination alone are omnipotent." - Calvin Coolidge Babe Ruth had more strike outs than anyone else in history. When asked about the key to his success he said, "I just keep swinging."

In the mid 1960's, Martin Cooper, an electrical engineer at Motorola, had a vision of a phone that could be carried around and powered by a battery. His concept was scoffed at by many of his fellow engineers. After 15 years in development, Motorola brought the cellular phone to market.

In 1864, he was born the son of slaves on a Missouri plantation. He grew up not knowing his parents. With persistence and determination, he put himself through college. To combat the racism he encountered, he excelled in everything he did. George Washington Carver became one of our nation's leading scientists and revolutionized agriculture.

At 205 pounds and standing 5'10" tall he was below average size for a pro football player. To build his strength and endurance he ran up steep hills while playing high school football. As a professional player he ran up an 80-yard hill, set at a 45-degree angle, 25 times a day. Determined to be the best he could be, he watched films of opponents until he could predict their moves. Football Hall of Famer, Walter Payton tied or beat seven NFL records during his 13-season career.

You are born without the concept of failure. How did you learn to walk? The first time you tried you immediately fell. But you didn't know you couldn't succeed and immediately tried again. And again, you fell down. But you never gave up. Hundreds of times you repeated this process until you learned to walk.

Persistence is getting up one more time than you fall down. Unfortunately, you are taught to give up and fail. How many times have you heard one or more of the following?

"Why bother, you'll never be able to do that – it'll never work"

"Don't rock the boat, just do what you're supposed to do"

"Why take chances?"

"You'll never amount to anything"

"Stop dreaming -- come back to reality"

"Why don't you give up already?"

"I tried that already, it doesn't work"

If you had believed any of the above when you were learning to walk you would still be crawling! You didn't listen to bad advice then so why listen to it now?

When you feel like giving up, you must keep going. Only by continuing, when most others won't, will you achieve your goals. Don't join the ranks of those who have given up just around the corner from success. You never know where your corner is so you must never stop.

Retired teachers hold January meeting

The bi-monthly meeting of the Donley County Retired School Personnel Association met Monday, January 27, in the Donley County Senior Citizens Center at noon. The program was presented by Beverly McCaskill about Yoga for Seniors. We not only learned about yoga for seniors, but we also participated in the moves as she led us through each move. At all times, we either sat in our chairs or stood behind them for support if we needed to. Each move is designed to improve the body's strength, balance, or blood flow. The demonstration was fun and informative. Beverly teaches this class every Monday and Wednesday at the Center from 1:00-2:00 p.m. All seniors are invited to attend the classes.

After old and new business was discussed, the meeting was dismissed. There were 12 members present. The next meeting will be held on Monday, March 31, at 12:00 in the Senior Citizens.

Graves plays in Dream All-American Bowl

In April of 2024, former Clarendon resident Jackson Graves received an email and a text message inviting him to the Dream All-American Bowl.

Contestants for this bowl are either nominated by a college coach from a summer camp, or a scout from Dream All-American may also nominate a player based on performance noticed at a summer camp.

Jackson, who now lives in Wheeler, arrived on December 26 to meet his fellow teammates and coaches; then the teams practiced the following two days. The night before the bowl, they held an awards assembly, and Jackson was nominated as a team captain. The game took place on December 29 at the AT&T Stadium in Arlington.

This was the fifth year of the Dream All-American bowl, and it's partnered with IMG Academy and Recruit Nation. This year, there were 38 states represented in the bowl - four teams that included two underclassmen teams playing each other and two senior teams playing each other. Altogether, there were close to 180 total players.

The CEO and Founder, Shannon Riley, first created the platform, Dream Scouting Network, back in 2016, and in just a few years, it expanded regionally, then nationally. Shannon Riley first got the idea because he wanted to help the kids in his home state of Delaware gain exposure and get recruited, which resulted in him naming it the "Dream" All-American Bowl.

Jackson was grateful and blessed to be sponsored in the Dream All-American Bowl by Huddleston Sales Inc., Vest Ranch, RS Graves, Oldham Trading, and Top of Texas Outfitters.

The Clarendon Lions Club held its regular Tuesday noon meeting February 4, 2025, with Boss Lion Richard Green in command.

We had ten Lions present, one attending virtually, Sweetheart Lauren Ceniceros, and one guest this week - Rita Gehman, guest of Lion Eric Gehmen.

Broncos outplay the Hornets and Cyclones

By Sandy Anderberg

The Broncos grabbed the momentum in the district race last week posting two big wins over Highland Park and Memphis.

The Broncos struck early in the second quarter after a slow start to set the tempo for the remainder of the game against the Hornets and earn the 47-25 win on the road.

A huge final eight minutes for the Broncos to turn an 11-point lead after three to the 22-point win. Senior Mason Sims was on fire as he pumped in 23 points on the night that included being spot-on inside, but also successful at the bonus line. Sims was able to convert five of eight free throws and nail two three-pointers to allow him to be a triple threat on offense. He finished with another double-double with 10 rebounds in the game. All of the Broncos stepped up their game and added to the point total. Fellow seniors Colton Caudle finished with eight points and as many rebounds while converting both free throws. Kaleb Bolin put in seven points with five assists and five steals, while John Weatherton had six points, two rebounds, one assist, and three steals.

Caleb Herbert helped with three points and nine rebounds.

The Broncos crushed the Cyclones 67-50 with solid defense especially in the third quarter. The Broncos were able to make steal after steal on the Cyclones' end of the court and score easy points. Once again, Sims was the scoring leader with 25 hitting five of seven from the bonus line. Michael Randall put in 11 that included one huge three-pointer.

Offensively, the Broncos were able to stay with their game plan for the most part and make stops when they needed them. Bolin, Herbert, and Kyler Bell put in eight points each with Bell hitting 100% from the bonus line and adding a three-pointer. Herbert also added one from the arc. Bryce Williams had a bucket and a free throw for three, and Weatherton put in two.

The Broncos will take on Panhandle at home Feb. 7 and travel to Wheeler Feb. 11 with both games beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Lady Broncos finish second to Panhandle in district

By Sandy Anderberg

The Lady Broncos have had a stellar year and look to go deep in the playoffs beginning next week. They were able to finish second in district to number two ranked Panhandle, which went undefeated to claim the District Championship.

The Lady Broncos annihilated Highland Park and Memphis last week with big wins. They won 78-14 over the Lady Hornets and dropped the Lady Cyclones 92-31 at home.

The Lady Broncos held the Lady Hornets to single digits for three quarters and were able to capitalize on steals and turnovers. Offensively, the ladies were clearly in control. Kashlyn Conkin poured in four threes and finished with 20 points and Kenidee Hayes had 13. Berkley Moore, Madi Benson, Kenadie Cummins, and Kate Shaw had eight points each, and Gracie Ellis put up five. Tandie Cummins had four, and Hayden Elam and Cambree Smith helped with two each.

Things did not change against the Lady Cyclones as they turned in double figures, which shows the depth of the team. K. Cummins hit five of six of her bonus points and finished with 23, while Conkin repeated and pumped in 20 points that included six three-pointers. Shaw was strong with 16, T. Cummins had 12, and Hayes put in 10. Ellis hit one three and Elam, Benson, Moore, and Addy Havens finished with two points apiece.

Neither game was any competition for the Lady Broncos as they were able to score at will against both opponents. The well-rounded team with its three seniors Elam, and T. and K. Cummins leading the way is hard to stop. Paired with seven juniors, the team can not only put in the two-pointers, they can drain the three and hit the bonus shots as well. Hayes is an all-around player that can make the shots when they count and plays solid defense. The Lady Broncos' inside game is strong led by junior Shaw and Conkin has nailed the three-ball all season long. Moore is a threat on both ends of the court and Ellis makes a statement at the point guard position. Benson has the speed to stop any opponents' fast breaks. All together, they are going deep in post-season play.

August Pearson dribbles down the court in Panhandle on Saturday.

Bronco JV losses to Highland Park and Memphis

The Bronco junior varsity suffered two losses last week as they near the end of their basketball season. The losses came from Highland Park and Memphis.

The Broncos held the lead against the Highland Park Hornets until the final seven minutes to lose 28-34. The Broncos played a solid game and led by five going into the fourth quarter. But the Broncos went cold in the final quarter and could only muster a two-point field goal from Dakotah Jameson while the Hornets were able to put in 13 points to get the win. Free throws set the Broncos back as they only made two of six while HP converted seven of twelve.

Kreed Robinson led the way with six and Kendon Hanes finished with five. Aiden Morris put in four from his inside spot and Hudson Howard added the only three-pointer for the Broncos. Markael Anderson and Jameson put in two points each.

In another close game, the Broncos came up short against Memphis at home at 33-41. The Broncos did all they could do to stop the Cyclones' highest scorer who finished with 20 points. Overall, the Broncos played hard on offense and had some really good looks from the arc and connected with three big shots. They were only able to shoot two free throws in the entire game and H. Howard converted both of them.

Howard along with Jameson, and Morris put in eight points each to lead the Broncos, and Hanes had three. Dakotah Bond, Ybarra, and Ronan Howard finished with two points apiece in the loss.

The Broncos will play their final game at home on February 7 against Panhandle.

Colts take care of Wheeler

The Clarendon Colts played fundamental basketball at home against Wheeler last week and earned a 34-30 win over the Wheeler Colts.

The game was fairly even after one, but then the Colts went to work on the offensive end of the court. Together, they hit four three-pointers, while Wheeler could only make good on one from the arc. The big lead allowed the Colts to get the win despite the comeback attempt by Wheeler in the final quarter of play.

The Colts did a great job of playing team ball and three players were able to finish in double figures. Braxton Gribble put in three three-pointers, Tyler Smith added one big shot, and Brance Bell was perfect from the bonus line with four for four. The three Colts finished with 10 points each. Brentley Gaines and Paxton English helped with two points each.

Lady Colts narrowly lose to Wheeler

The Lady Colts played hard and never quit, but a slow scoring fourth quarter spelled defeat for the team. Wheeler was able to best the Lady Colts 21-24.

After a solid first quarter, the Lady Colts struggled to put points on the board before the break and they trailed by three. A good third quarter got the ladies within three points of Wheeler, but they ran out of time to get the lead. Journey Morris was the workhorse for the night as she was able to put 18 points on the scoreboard to lead all scorers. Morris hit eight of fourteen free throws and overall, the team hit nine of 16 tries. Wheeler's top scorer finished the game with 14.

Paylin Hodge added three points, and Lindley Hogle added two.

THANK YOU

WORDS CANNOT EXPRESS THE THANKS and appreciation we have for all the acts of kindness and concern shown to us during the time of Jack's illness and death. We especially want to thank BSA Hospital doctors and nurses, the Memphis Convalescent Center staff, home health nurses and aides, Gentiva Hospice nurses and aides, and all our wonderful friends and families. We also especially want to give thanks to our pastor, Lance Wood, for his visits and the wonderful service and to the ones who provided and served food for our families. Most of all, we thank you for your prayers. We love you all. Genella Eads Andi & Dale Hostenske Eddy & Holly Eads

WE WOULD LIKE TO SAY "THANK YOU" to the Clarendon Volunteer Fire Department, all our local emergency personnel and EMTs, and everyone who responded during our house fire in December. Special thanks to Sis Bond and Doran Lindsey for putting shoes on our feet so we could go to work the next day, Chris Reuter for all that he did, and Markeeta Howard for making sure our family still had a Christmas. We also especially want to thank the Cowboy Church, the Clarendon Methodist Church, all the other local churches, and the entire community of Clarendon. Also, we would like to urge all rural families to consider having a generator for your water well. We thought we had the fire out at one point, and then we lost power to our well. Thank you all, and God bless you! The Cubitt Family

Happy Valentine's Day!

Good Fun and Good Business too!

Whew! I've been delivering Valentine surprises all day long. I'm tired, but happy because it's nice that so many people care about other people and want to send them nice Valentines!

Read these clues to fill in the crossword to discover the most popular gifts given on Valentine's Day:

- Poetry and fun Valentine stories will fly off store and library shelves.
- The first box, introduced by Richard Cadbury, had a painting of his daughter holding a kitten on its cover. Later, he created the first heart-shaped box.
- These used to be made by hand and delivered in person. Now they are machine-made and a billion are enjoyed all over the world.
- These snuggly birds, along with doves, have been popular to give or use in designs for Valentine's Day. Each year, Fort Worth Zoo in Texas lets people add a "wild child" to their family by buying a Valentine's Day or other "adoption" package. The money raised goes to care for animals.
- People will sell a lot of pizza, doughnuts and other food items in this shape.
- Red roses are thought to be the most romantic and the most popular kind given on Valentine's Day.
- The first type of this gift may have been made out of shells and bones. Ancient Egyptians gave this gift made out of gold with precious stones to kings.
- Some people will go to plays or comedy _____.
- These sugary messages were invented by Oliver Chase in 1847. Today, the Necco company makes about 100,000 pounds of these a day!
- People will create special memories attending parent/child or other family _____.
- Bakeries will sell cakes, cupcakes and Valentine _____.
- The oldest of these is thought to be the one discovered on a clay tablet written about 4,000 years ago (from a priestess to a king).
- People will enjoy this meal out.
- People will buy tickets to listen to romantic _____ at concert halls.
